

MONDAY, MARCH 2, 1835.

Washington, Monday, Feb. 23, 1835.

The news by the Sully, at New York, is received here with great pleasure and satisfaction by the friends of the Administration. It confirms the belief entertained, and which was very significantly expressed, by Mr. Buchanan in the Senate, that in order to obtain justice at the hands of France, we must act in such a way as to show to her that we are determined to have justice. The belief seems general that the Chambers will make the necessary appropriations to carry the treaty into execution, and of course, quiet will be restored. But you will see in the proceedings of Congress, that the maxim, "in peace prepare for war," is kept in view. The Senate has been engaged nearly all day in the discussion of the bill, introduced by Mr. Frelinghuysen, to get rid of Mr. Taney's nomination—in other words, to alter the Judiciary system of the U. S. Col. Benton took hold of the subject at the threshold, and although he was not at liberty to state it openly, yet he managed to disclose pretty clearly, by innuendo, that the object of the gentlemen, in urging the bill, was not so much to extend the judicial system to the West, as to get rid of one which was about to impose an onerous duty on them, in the East. The Col. very emphatically repeated the old maxim, that "there were many ways to kill a dog," and there were "two ways to drown a man—one was to throw him overboard, and the other was to scuttle the ship, and let him go to the bottom." The Col. continued—"I may speak in enigmas, but I shall be understood by Senators at least." The bill ultimately assumed another shape, so as to unite the 3d and 4th circuits, to make a circuit of Louisiana, Alabama, and Mississippi, and another of Missouri, Indiana and Illinois, which will add another Judge to the Supreme Court Bench, and supersede the necessity of Mr. Taney's appointment—that is, if the House pass it, a consummation which, I think, the patent Whigs of the day will not be gratified with seeing. The Senate was engaged a short time in executive business, but only acted upon some unimportant Western nominations.

The House was chiefly occupied to-day in discussing the Harbor and Indian annuity bills, in Committee of the Whole—nothing definitive, upon anything of importance, was done.

Washington, Wednesday, Feb. 25.

We have hardly got over the amusement which the defeat of Mr. Adams in his run for Senator, has produced here. All parties were pleased a short time since with the bold stand he took in support of the Administration on the French business; but having the very next week manifested his weathercock disposition by backing out from his original position, he has brought down upon himself the reproaches and contempt of all parties. I say all, because I have heard many of his friends and admirers express themselves of his conduct, and there is but one opinion on the subject in all mouths.

The Poindeux committee are still very busily engaged during the sittings of the Senate, in their investigation, and the whole business will turn out to be the very quittance of nonsense and humbug. One of the deponents has backed out from his statements, and the other is discredited by the testimony of numerous witnesses. As Mr. Poindeux has withdrawn from his seat during the time this matter is going on, I suppose the committee will make their report to-morrow.

The Senate were engaged this evening upon the bill to regulate the deposits of the public money in the State Banks, without coming to a conclusion upon anything. In the House, in order to spend the time upon something unprofitable, they took up Mr. Gilmer's Joint Resolution for amending the Constitution in relation to the election of President and Vice President. As was to be expected, nothing definitive was done on the subject. But Mr. Peyton of Tennessee took the opportunity to introduce the name of Judge White into the discussion, and for the second time made an attack upon his colleague, Mr. Polk, on the ground that he was rather too democratically inclined, and I have rarely heard a more satisfactory reply than Mr. Polk made. It is now, I think, certain, that the bill to supersede Mr. Taney's nomination, and to add another Judge to the Supreme Court bench, will become a law. It was taken up in the House to-day, and on the question of commitment there was a vote which indicates that it will be passed. The opposition, en masse, will vote for it for the purpose of getting rid of Mr. Taney, and helping the opposition in the Senate out of the lurch, while a considerable portion of the administration men from the West will vote for it for the purpose of getting the benefits of the Circuit Court system extended to them.

The Post Office bill is not yet reached, and it is very doubtful whether it will be, or if reached; whether it will be put in such a shape as will be acceptable to both Houses. The Post Office itself, however, is greedily seized on by the opposition, now the panic has worn out, for the purpose of exciting anew the public sensibility. Last night, a Mr. Johnson from Maryland (for the first time in either house, he is remembered) undertook to charge Mr. Barry with corruption in the administration of the Department. I thought from the satisfaction which Mr. J. seemed to have in making the charge of corruption, and his various flourishes that he seemed to think himself a very Demosthenes. I don't know but I was thus impressed from associating the awkward manner in which he "handed his tongue," with the account on record of the pebbles used by the great Athenian—certainly the Maryland Demosthenes was in nubibus a good portion of the time, at all events until he was brought to earth by Mr. Beardsley and laid bare. The triumph was complete, and as Mr. Johnson was the first man in Congress to hazard the charge of malfeasance against Major Barry, I think it will be likely to prove a lesson to others whose tastes incline them to follow in the track he undertook to chalk out.

The story about the Democratic members of the Virginia Legislature being upon the point of nominating Judge White for the Presidency, is all a humbug.

The Whig Caucus, on Friday evening, confirmed the nomination by the antismasons of E. Everett, for Governor.

LATER FROM EUROPE.

By the arrival of the packet ship Independence, from Liverpool, whence she sailed on the 27th of January, English papers of that date, containing Paris dates to the 23d, have been received at New York.

It is stated in an article from Bell's Weekly Messenger of January 25th, that the country returns of members of Parliament are nearly completed, scarcely anything but those of Ireland remained undetermined; and that the number of Whigs and Radicals, displaced by Conservatives, up to that time, exceeded one hundred and four.

With respect to the relations between the U. States and France, the most interesting intelligence is contained in the following letter from Messrs. Welles & Co. of Paris, communicated to the editors of the Gazette by a passenger in the Independence:—

"Paris, Jan. 22.—The American question is what we follow here with great attention, and we shall be happy to give you any information in our power upon that subject. The documents in this affair were laid upon the table of the Chamber of Deputies, and thence have been sent to the Committee. It is uncertain how soon their report will be made; but from present appearances, it may be in three or four weeks. We consider the great result is now before this Chamber—if they execute the treaty in voting the subsidies, it will end there; if they refuse them, the consequence at least will be an interruption of the intercourse between France and the United States, and probably end in a war. The Ministry here is making every effort to carry this question, and our opinion is that they will succeed in doing it."

The National, Quotidienne and La France had all been seized in consequence of articles respecting the Treaty.

Mr. Livingston still remained in Paris at the latest dates. The claim of the Emperor of Russia, as King of Poland, has at length been brought to the notice of the French Government, and may possibly prevent the acknowledgment of our just demand, lest the recognition of the one debt should be regarded as a precedent for the acknowledgment of the other.

M. Dupin, the President of the chamber of Deputies, has been heard, within these few days, to express himself very strongly against the ratification of the Washington treaty by the Chamber; and the idea seems to gain ground among the members generally, that a second refusal may be hazarded without any serious risk of a rupture with the government of the United States.

Of all the opposition journals, the National declares itself strenuously against the proposed recognition, and, as usual, its arguments are conducted in such a manner as to give expression to the bitterness of its private rancor against the King.

Since the receipt of the President's message in Paris, the French papers have been occupied with scarcely any other subject. M. Hyde de Neuville has published a letter to prove that the Americans have no claims in justice or equity on France.

The Paris Constitutionnel of the 23d asserts that, though the Ministers will leave no means untried to carry the bill for the payment of the 25,000,000, they do not intend to make its adoption a cabinet question, and that should the Chamber of Deputies refuse to adopt their measure, they will still retain their places. The same journal intimates that the supporters of Ministers need not be deterred from voting against the bill by the fear of endangering the existence of the present administration.

Accounts from Madrid state that great dissensions prevail in the Spanish Ministry, and that a change is considered to be near at hand. Mina himself has been unable to keep the field in consequence of ill health; but he states that he will be speedily enabled to resume operations. Some skirmishes have lately taken place, which are described as favorable to the Carlists, and it is certain that their antagonists are in a very desponding condition. A movement of Eraso towards Castile has excited great alarm at Madrid; it was reported that Old Castile had risen in insurrection, and that the Carlists there only want support from the North to overpower their antagonists.
